BUS TRIP - There are still many open seats and to ensure that the trip is not canceled due to lack of interest, please phone the rectory by May 1st. - On Sunday May 19th our parish will be sponsoring a bus trip to visit historic churches and eat delicious food in the city of Cleveland. While the trip had originally been planned for Pittsburgh there was an unexpected scheduling change at one of the parishes and the decision was made to visit Cleveland instead. Departing via Bollman motor coach (5:00 AM) the day in Cleveland will begin with Latin High Mass at St. Stephen's Church, an old German ethnic parish, on Cleveland's West Side. Following Mass, we will head to the historic West Side Market. Home to meat, spice, and produce vendors, the market also has a variety of lunch counters available for lunch (on your own). Following lunch, the group will visit the Irish St. Colman Parish, followed by the Polish St. Stanislaus Parish, an incredible church built in the "Polish Cathedral" style. Our last stop before dinner will be at St. Vitus Church, the largest Slovenian ethnic parish in the United States. Dinner will be at Guarino's Restaurant, Cleveland's oldest Italian restaurant. Dinner includes locally baked bread, house salad with Guarino's homemade Italian dressing, nonalcoholic beverage, and a choice of chicken parmesan, spaghetti with meatballs, eggplant roll ups, or homemade lasagna (cash bar available). We should arrive back in Central City at 10:30 PM. The trip is open to anyone - first come, first served. The cost is $80.00 per person and includes dinner.

CATHOLIC PRIEST STABBED IN MONTREAL – A few weeks ago (March 22), Fr. Claude Grou, rector of St. Joseph's Oratory, was celebrating Mass when an attacker ran from the back of the rectory and stabbed him in the chest. A suspect was taken into custody in connection with the attack. Adele Plamondon, an attendee at the Mass, reported that the attacker "was very determined in what he wanted to do. He didn't yell, he didn't say anything. He just took out his knife." The stabbing was captured on video. St. Joseph's Oratory is the largest church in Canada, and its daily Mass is broadcast each morning.

TREAT ASHES OF LOVED ONES WITH DIGNITY – For most of its 2,000-year history the Catholic Church forbid cremation and permitted only burial, as a reminder that burial best expresses the Christian hope of resurrection. Since our bodies are "temples of the Holy Spirit" (1 Cor. 6:19), the Church has long taught that just as the body of Jesus was taken down from the cross with great care, so too our bodies should be treated with the utmost reverence when we die. Consider for a moment religious articles. When they are no longer used they are set aside in a reverent manner. So too our bodies must be cared for with reverence when we pass from this life. For centuries the Church battled false teachings that declared the body was a prison or worthless – the Church's teaching on cremation was a reaction to the heresies and pagan notions that sought to discard the body with little care or thought about the resurrection. On July 5, 1963 Pope Paul VI issued a document Piam et constantem, which permitted cremation only under certain circumstances. These circumstances include situations where there is no denial of Catholic doctrine, contempt for the body, or hatred for the faith. The document points out that hygienic and economic concerns are among the chief reasons why cremation is permissible. Thus since 1963 the Church has permitted cremation in circumstances only when it doesn't deny the faith, especially in regard to Christ's teaching about the resurrection of the dead. In light of this the practice of cremation has become much more widespread among Catholics and as a result new questions have developed regarding the sprinkling of ashes and dividing portions of the cremains and placing them in jewelry, etc. Moreover new ideas contrary to the Church's faith have emerged since 1963, including New Age ideas that death is a "fusion" with Mother Nature and the universe, or the "definitive liberation" from the prison of the body. To address these concerns and to provide solid Christian teaching on the subject, two years ago the Church clarified this issue in a document entitled, Ad resurgendum cum Christo. This document makes clear that ashes and bone fragments cannot be kept at home, since that would deprive the Christian community as a whole from remembering the dead. Rather, in keeping with human dignity and reverence, they are to be placed in a sacred space, such as a cemetery or church area. Only in extraordinary cases can ashes to be kept at home. The document further states that remains cannot be divided among family members or put in lockets or other mementoes. Nor can any of the ashes be scattered in the air, land or sea since doing so would give the appearance of "pantheism, naturalism or nihilism." To show the seriousness of this matter the document repeated the teaching that Catholics who choose to be cremated for reasons contrary to the Christian faith must be denied a Christian funeral. Cardinal Gerhard Mueller, who at the time of the document's publishing was head Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, further clarified the issue when he wrote, "The dead body isn't the private property of relatives, but rather a son of God who is part of the people of God," Mueller said. "We have to get over this individualistic thinking." We are called to be faithful and not merely sentimental, taking to heart the seriousness of Christ's resurrection and avoid any pagan practices but instead treat the bodies of the dead with the reverence that is their due.
