A STORY OF HOPE – A few days ago Phillip Johnson posted these words on Facebook: “I finally finished seminary! Thank you all for your support and prayers! I hope to be ordained a priest in early January 2017. This is, in so many ways, a miracle.” A little background on Phillip Johnson is in order to understand why his simple words are so powerful. Johnson was on the brink of a shining time in his young life when he was diagnosed with incurable and inoperable brain cancer a few years ago. He was 24 with excellent career prospects as a Naval officer. Johnson entered the seminary to pursue the priesthood — a call he’d heard since the age of 19. Patients with his type of cancer are typically given 18 months to live; but six years later, despite the pain and struggle associated with his illness, he is hoping to be ordained a transitional deacon in the up-coming weeks. Of his suffering, Johnson wrote: “I have traveled to Lourdes, France, the site of a Marian apparition and a place of physical and spiritual healing that is visited by millions of pilgrims each year. I have had the great opportunity to serve the infirm there who trust in God with their whole hearts to make sense of their suffering. Through my interaction with these people, I received much more than I gave. I learned that the suffering and heartache that is part of the human condition does not have to be wasted and cut short out of fear or seeking control in a seemingly uncontrollable situation. Perhaps this is the most important miracle that God intends for me to experience.” Johnson also issued an impassioned plea to a young woman, Brittany Maynard, who in the fall of 2014 announced that her own battle with cancer had become too much: When Maynard told People magazine in October that she was planning to take her own life on Nov. 1st, people from all across the nation begged her to reconsider. Many shared their own testimonies and stories on blogs, websites, social media and letters to the editor as proof that life holds worth at any stage. Unfortunately, Maynard did carry through with her plan, dying on Nov. 1st in Oregon — a state where physician-assisted suicide is legal — at age 29. Johnson was one of the many who reached out to Maynard. Despite being, in his words, “shy and introverted,” he shared his own struggles in an article for the Diocese of Raleigh. Though empathizing with Maynard’s pain, he encouraged others who suffer to spurn physician-assisted suicide as an option. His powerful witness has earned him a place in Our Sunday Visitor’s 2014 Catholics of the Year. Philip Johnson wrote at the time, “I have experienced so much sadness due to my illness, but there have also been times of great joy. The support I have received from others encourages me to keep pushing on. I want to be a priest, I want to see my three young nephews grow up, and these goals give me the hope to wake up each day and live my life with trust.” God bless him. Keep him in your prayers as he continues his journey.

FIRST CONFESSION – The first communicants will be making their First Confession TODAY (Sunday) between the 8:00 and 10:30 Masses. Please pray for them as they make this important step in their journey of faith.

FIRST HOLY COMMUNION – First Holy Communion Mass will be celebrated next Sunday at the 8:00 AM Mass. All are welcome.

FIRST COMMUNION PRACTICE – Practice for the first communicants will be next Saturday (May 28th) at 11:00 AM.

WHAT’S IN A NAME – Once upon a time, Catholic families had a girl named Mary, without fail. Maybe “Elizabeth” or “Rose” made its way into the mix, but you had to have a Mary — or Marie, or Maria, or at least a Regina. Even some boys often had some form of “Mary” as a middle name. Now the name “Mary” has sunk below the top 100 names in the U.S., and the hunt is on for something new to name the baby — or something so old, it sounds new again. “I’m seeing a lot of vintage/retro/throwback names,” says Kate Towne, who writes Sancta Nomina, a blog devoted to Catholic baby names. “This follows the taste of American society as a whole. Those names are due for a resurgence in popularity.” What old-fashioned names are back in style with Catholics and non-Catholics alike? Ask the question on Facebook, and Lucys abound. Veronicas and Josephines are blooming everywhere. Gaggles of Dominics, Georges, Henrys, and Theodores fill public and parochial kindergartens. However some retro names which are enjoying a heyday around the baptismal font are less likely to catch on in the secular world. Ambrose and Augustine, Pia and Pio, Kateri, Philomena and Felicity are growing in popularity among people of our faith, and Caeli is inching up the Catholic charts. Then there are nicknames. It sounds so hip when your son answers to Iggy, Nacho, Nash, Nat, or Ace — but to his altar boy pals, he’s Ignatius Athanasius. The Church long required parents to choose a name of a saint or a Christian virtue or mystery, however the current naming requirements are not as strict. Presently Catholics must simply avoid names that are foreign to Christian sensibility. When considering the name of your next child, perhaps it is time to consider one of the names from our exceptionally rich Catholic tradition, names that not only remind us of virtuous souls, but are, strangely enough, somewhat hip.

HOLY NAME SOCIETY – There will be a reorganizational meeting of the Holy Name Society TODAY (Sunday) at 6:00 PM in the Activity Center. The Holy Name Society is open to all practicing Catholic men who are interested in strengthening the parish and enjoy fraternal camaraderie. If you were a “Holy Namer” in the past or are interested in joining, please make every effort to attend the meeting. See Fr. Aron for questions.

CORPUS CHRISTI MASS – Next week the Church will celebrate the great solemnity of Corpus Christi, the day when, in a particular way, we call to mind the gift of Christ’s true presence in Holy Communion. Benediction will follow the 10:30 AM Mass next weekend in honor of this great feast. Additionally the newly formed schola will be singing for the 10:30 AM Mass, please mark your calendar.

NEW FLOOR – Thanks to the generosity of the Slavic Heritage Association the carpet on the sanctuary floor at old St. John’s has been removed and the oak floors refinished. Many thanks to the Slavic Heritage Association for underwriting this project. Additionally, many thanks to the Pongrac brothers for all of their blood, sweat, and (maybe) tears spent accomplishing this task.

IDLEWILD TRIP – This summer the parish will be offering a daytrip to Idlewild Park in Ligonier on Sunday July 10th (departure after the 10:30 AM Mass). The trip is free and open to all families in the parish with children. Food will be provided for all in attendance. A permission slip was distributed at CCD this past Sunday – IT MUST BE COMPLETED IF YOUR PARTY WISHES TO ATTEND. Additional forms can be found on the back table. Since an accurate headcount is needed to purchase the tickets (free for all parishioners) please contact the rectory by June 10th if you and your family wish to attend.

ARTIFACTS NEEDED – This summer marks the 100th Anniversary of the arrival of Fr. Pliz and the beginnings of the Catholic faith in Central City (the date is slightly more complex). Fr. Aron would like to decorate a new meeting room in the rectory with pictures and artifacts from our parish history (both Sacred Heart and St. John). If you have some older photos, suitable for framing, or some artifacts that you would be willing to donate to this display please contact Fr. Aron.
