WHO WOULD YOU EAT WITH – Recently The New York Times, has published a series of articles asking influential people the question, “If you could have dinner with one person who is no longer with us, and whose obituary was published in The New York Times who would it be, and why that person?” This past week Dominique Dawes, the first African-American female gymnast to win an individual medal, answered the question. Her answer, which follows, may surprise you. – If I could choose to have dinner with somebody who has passed away, I would choose to dine with Mother Angelica. Mother Angelica was the nun who founded the largest religious network, Eternal Word Television Network, starting with only $200. She is the only woman to have founded and led a cable network for over 20 years. I’d invite Mother Angelica to my home and have her sit at the head of our table, alongside my husband and two baby girls. The meal I’d cook would be soul food (I grew up on it), consisting of chitlins, collard greens, cheese grits and candied yams. Mother Angelica would understand this meal: She was raised around blacks and poor Italians in a tough Canton, Ohio, neighborhood. She knew people, she understood their plights, she was one of them! And she knew resilience most of all, raised by a single mother from an early age after her father had abandoned them. I’d ask her to say the blessing, then proceed to ask her a few things about her life and about fortitude. A priest once told me that it’s very difficult to have a relationship with your Heavenly Father after your earthly father has abandoned you. I often wondered how she overcame this abandonment, learned to forgive her father and ultimately trust in God? She was a cloistered nun, in a convent, yet she was seen by hundreds of millions of people worldwide as the host of a series on EWTN. How was she able to embrace both of these so very opposite vocations? (I am an introvert by nature, and performing in front of millions during the Olympic Games gave me anxiety, as does speaking at events in front of thousands now.) Over dinner, I'd be fascinated to hear from Mother Angelica about how she channeled her own pain into a larger purpose. And I would ask her how I might help others, whether they suffer from anxiety, depression, addiction, physical ailments or the pain of abandonment or divorce. Her whole life, after all, was dedicated to helping others, especially the disenfranchised. Mother Angelica, I would ask, how can we here on earth emulate what you did, even in a smaller way, offering help to others in a world that so desperately needs it?

CATHEDRAL TOURS – The Cathedral of the Blessed Sacrament in Altoona is conducting tours during the month of September. Tours of the “Mother Church” of our diocese will be offered on Sunday, September 4th and Sunday September 25th beginning at 1:00 PM. Tours will also be given on Thursday, September 15th at 7:00 PM. All are welcome to attend.

EGO TE BAPTIZO – Our parish offers sincere congratulations to Aria Elizabeth Deneen, daughter of Dave and Melanie Deneen who will be baptized this weekend. Please keep Aria in your prayers as she begins her journey of faith.

THE JOYS OF PARENTHOOD – A mother was preparing pancakes for her sons, Kevin, 5, and Ryan, 3. The boys began to argue over who would get the first pancake. Their mother saw the opportunity for a moral lesson. If Jesus were sitting here, He would say, "Let my brother have the first pancake. I can wait." Kevin turned to his younger brother and said, "Ryan, you be Jesus."

SOMETHING TO PONDER – The less secure a person is, the more likely he/she is to have extreme prejudices.

OPEN CHURCH – Please remember the Sacred Heart site is open during the day Monday through Friday. All are invited to come and enjoy the peaceful serenity that comes from praying before the Blessed Sacrament. Please note that the church is accessible via the side door (rectory side) – the front door will remain locked.
